

Michele Edwards, ACNP

Michele helped grow the Heart Failure Program at Grady since its beginning in March 2011. She graduated from Austin Peay State University in 2004 and began her career in emergency nursing. In 2010, she received her masters of Science degree in acute care nursing (MSN), from the University of Cincinnati. She has been in the field of nursing for nine years and currently is the manager of the heart failure program at GMH.