

AMERICA'S ESSENTIAL
HOSPITALS

Thomas Traylor, MBA

Vice President, Federal, State and Local Programs

Boston Medical Center

Thomas Traylor has been Vice President for Government Programs as well as Vice President for the BMC HealthNet Plan since 1996. Previously he was Commissioner and Chief Financial Officer at Boston's Department of Health and Hospitals, (1986 – 1996). He oversees financial negotiation with the Federal and State governments on hospital programs for the low income. Additionally, he is responsible for the BMC HealthNet Plan which now has more than 250,000 members. He serves on the Board of NAPH and ACAP. Mr. Traylor received a B.A. degree from Holy Cross College and an M.B.A. degree from Northeastern University.