Janet Elkin

President and CEO

Supplemental Health Care

Janet Elkin is the President and Chief Executive Officer of Supplemental Health Care, a national healthcare workforce solutions provider based in Park City, Utah.

Elkin joined Supplemental Health Care in 2003 and assumed multiple operations management positions including Division Manager, Area Manager and Regional Vice President. In these roles, she was responsible for overseeing a P&L budget of $38 million and leading 13 offices throughout the company's Southeast Allied region.

In 2010, Elkin's leadership and achievements culminated into her appointment as President and Chief Executive Officer by Supplemental Health Care's Board of Directors. Since her appointment, she has successfully lead the company's efforts to gain market share in the allied and nurse staffing segments, launch industry-unique employee retention programs, and diversify its existing workforce solutions portfolio by implementing its Recruitment Process Outsourcing, Supplemental Physicians and Advanced Practice divisions.

Elkin attended Syracuse University and earned a joint bachelor's degree in advertising and psychology.
