

Jacob Kraybill

Project Coordinator

Build Healthy Places Network

Jacob Kraybill, Project Coordinator, leads numerous projects at the Build Healthy Places Network. Before joining the Network, he worked at the Public Health Institute. Additionally, Jacob spent five years at a hospital system in Pennsylvania as a communications consultant and has coordinated people, logistics, and contracts at a number of other nonprofits.

Dedicated to the vision of a more just and equal world, Jacob came to San Francisco through a two-year volunteer program where he worked at two nonprofits. He coordinated the social media and outreach for Interfaith Power & Light, a network of faith communities working to slow climate change, and managed community and student volunteers at Mission Graduates, an organization in San Francisco's Mission neighborhood that increases the number of K-12 students who are prepared for and complete a college education.

Jacob graduated from Lesley University in Cambridge, MA, with a B.A. in Global Studies

Daniel Lau, MPH

Manager of Strategic Engagement
Building Healthy Places Network

Daniel Lau, MPH is a nonprofit professional working to support communities become more healthy, successful and resilient. Before coming to the Network, Daniel was the Programs Director at Mission Asset Fund. At MAF, he managed the expansion and implementation of Lending Circles, a group savings and credit-building program. Building partnerships all across the country, Daniel contributed to a movement of safe and responsible access to financial capital for hardworking families, opening doors for economic advancement and self-sufficiency. Before MAF, he conducted research on the National School Lunch Program and advocated for federal anti-hunger and anti-poverty initiatives in Washington, DC.

Daniel graduated from the University of California, San Diego with a degree in Human Biology and completed his Masters in Public Health from Boston University. He is an alum of the Bill Emerson National Hunger Fellowship.

